

Are You Playing the Game or is the Game Playing You?

It may not be adequate or specific enough to say you're playing the "Coaching Is My Life's Work Game", since it doesn't completely define the quality of life experience or the area of focus you may want to play in. And then again it might, however, below are some prompts...

It the	"How
Is "Do	it the much
Only what	Is fun can I
I need to do	have while
and nothing	rising up the
more," Game?	income ladder"
	Game?

Is it the
"Building
lasting relationships
through public speaking" Game?

Or is it the	"Bust my butt
until	retirement
then get out as soon as I can"
Game?	